Identifying the unit's goals focuses students on the listening and speaking skills and the academic topic.

Self-assessment prepares students for the vocabulary in the audio and video activities.

The Academic Word List and the Oxford 3000

Based on a corpus of 4.3 million words, the Academic Word List (AWL) is the most principled and widely accepted list of academic words. Compiled by Averil Coxhead in 2000, it was informed by academic materials across the academic disciplines.

The Oxford 3000™ have been carefully selected by a group of language experts and experienced teachers as the most important and useful words to learn in English. The Oxford 3000 are based on the American English section of the Oxford English Corpus.

Oxford 3000 and Academic Word List vocabulary is integrated throughout the unit and practiced in context through audio and video resources.

Explicit Skills Instruction

Before You Listen

Read these questions. Discuss your answers in a small group.

1. When you meet up with your friends, what do you often do for fun?
2. What kinds of films do you watch?
3. In filmmaking, what job interests you most? Explain your answer.

Listen

Read the Listen for Main Ideas activity below. Go online to listen to a podcast called Behind the Scenes! The host interviews several people working on the set of a new film.

Listen for Main Ideas

Mark each sentence as T (true) or F (false). Working with a partner, restate false sentences to make them correct.

- T 1. The film is an adventure story.
- ___ 2. The director has more authority than the producer on everything.
- ___ 3. A visual-effects artist has complete freedom during the design process.
- ___ 4. A stunt person's job is not always easy.
- ___ 5. Background actors are free to do what they want on the set.

Discussion questions activate students' knowledge and prepare them to listen.

Comprehension activities help students understand the listening materials in preparation for academic skills instruction.

NOTE-TAKING SKILL Recording Definitions

LEARN

A definition tells you the meaning of a word or concept. Speakers often define important words and concepts for their audience. Listen for key phrases that tell you when the speaker is giving a definition.

Filmmaking is defined as the process of creating motion pictures.

Filmmaking refers to the production of motion pictures.

A blockbuster film is characterized by great commercial success.

A blockbuster film signifies great commercial success.

After the key phrase, a speaker will often give information that defines the word he / she is trying to describe.

Word being defined	Key phrase	Defining information
Filmmaking	is defined as	the process of creating motion pictures.

Listening and speaking skill instruction is linked to the academic content. Apply sections give students the opportunity to practice the skills in context.

APPLY

- A. Listen to the audio again. Match each job with the key phrase it is used with in the audio. Write brief notes about each job in the right column.

Job	Key phrase	Defining information
1. director	characterized as	1. interprets a story, makes it into a film; responsible for total vision
2. visual-effects artist	signifies	2. _____
3. stunt person	refers to	3. _____
4. background actor	defined as	4. _____

High-Interest Media Content

Before You Watch

Read the following questions. Discuss your answers in a small group.

1. If you were going to open a new business, what kind of business would you start?
2. What do you think is the hardest part of owning and operating a business?
3. What is the most successful industry in your country? Explain your answer.

Watch

Read the Listen for Main Ideas activity below. Go online to watch a podcast about how microcredit is helping people around the world create new lives for themselves.

Listen for Main Ideas

Mark each sentence as T (true) or F (false). Work with a partner. Restate false sentences to make them correct.

- ☒ 1. Microcredit is the process of providing small loans to people who normally would not be able to get a bank loan.
- ☐ 2. The Grameen Bank has been in decline since it opened.
- ☐ 3. The use of microcredit is growing in Africa.
- ☐ 4. One problem with microcredit is that there is no incentive to repay the loan.

Audio and video including lectures, professional presentations, classroom discussions, and student presentations expose students to a variety of academic contexts.

High-interest, original academic video and authentic BBC content motivate students.

LISTENING SKILL

Inferences

LEARN

You make an inference when you decide that something is probably true based on the information that you have. Being able to make inferences is important because not all information is explicitly stated. When you make an inference, think about the speaker's opinion, attitude, and tone. Also, ask yourself what the speaker's purpose or area of interest is. Look at the example below.

"As a doctor, I say regular health checks are no laughing matter. I suggest going to see your local medical practitioner once a year. Regular check-ups can help prevent serious problems from developing."

The speaker is a doctor, promoting the importance of health checks. Based on this information, we can reasonably infer that the statement "regular health checks are no laughing matter" means that getting a regular check-up is an important thing to do.

Pronunciation Instruction

Pronunciation skill instruction is supported by audio resources to ensure students are articulate, clear speakers.

PRONUNCIATION SKILL

New Information and Special Emphasis

LEARN

In spoken English, use stress to draw attention to focus words. A focus word is the most important idea in a chunk. Every English chunk has at least one focus word. It sounds stronger, longer, clearer, and usually higher than the other words in the phrase. Choosing focus words to highlight the main idea in a sentence is called sentence focus. Use this skill to introduce new information and signal special emphasis.

- 1 A. Go online to listen. The focus words written in pink below introduce a new topic in each sentence or phrase. Notice that this new information is usually the last content word (noun, main verb, adjective, adverb) in the chunk.

The Model V electric car | causes 50 percent less CO₂. | So, when you're driving one of our cars, | you're helping | to offset CO₂ emissions. | Also, | don't forget: | Natural resources | are finite. | We can't continue | to exploit our resources | and hope | that they'll never run out. | Electric | is the future.

- 2 B. Listen to the above content again. Notice how repeated information is unstressed because it is no longer new. The combination of stress and unstress creates contrast between the focus words and the other words in the phrases.

APPLY

- 1 A. Go online to listen to the sentences. Circle the focus word in each chunk.
1. That's a great question.
 2. Robotics | is an extremely fascinating field.
 3. There are thousands of robots | doing a wide variety of tasks | in hospitals.
 4. Robots | can use | very sensitive GPS equipment.
 5. Robots | are far better | at cleaning | than humans.
- 2 B. Go online to listen to five conversations. On a separate sheet of paper, write out the conversations. Chunk when necessary and underline the focus words. Compare your answers with a partner.
- 3 C. Practice the conversations in Apply, activity B with a partner. Create contrast by making focus words extra strong, extra long, extra high, and extra clear. Give significantly less stress to the other words in the sentences.
- 4 D. Work with another partner. Write two short conversations that contrast new and old information. Practice the conversations and teach them to another group.

A: I ran into this guy.

B: What guy?

A: A guy from one of my classes.

Students learn and apply pronunciation skills in the context of the academic topic.

UNIT

(5. make certain)
 are available in the future.

- B. Some words have multiple meanings. For the target words below, match the dictionary definitions on the left with the example sentences on the right.

expose

Definitions

- C 1. to show the truth about somebody or something
 — 2. to leave something uncovered or unprotected
 — 3. to provide an experience

Example Sentences

- a. Fruit juice can go bad if it is exposed to the sun.
 b. Some parents think it's important to expose their children to books and music at a young age.
 c. The investigation exposed problems with company management.

convention

Definitions

- 1. a large meeting of the members of a profession or political party
- 2. an official agreement between countries or leaders
- 3. a traditional method or style in literature or the arts

Example Sentences

- a. The United Nations Convention on the Rights of Children was signed in 1989.
- b. Several officials attended the convention on climate change.
- c. The conventions used in academic writing are different from those used for spoken English.

Transmit means “to send an electronic signal.”

The radio station transmits from a large tower.

Transmit also means “to pass from one person or thing to another.”

Malaria is a disease that is transmitted by mosquitoes.

C. Complete the chart. Share your answers with a partner.

Things transmitted by electronic signals	Things transmitted from one person to another
1. a radio broadcast	1. a disease
2. _____	2. _____
3. _____	3. _____

Analogy means “a comparison of one thing with another thing that has similar features.” The adjective analogous means “similar in some way to another thing or situation and therefore able to be compared with it.” Analogous is often used with the preposition to.

The new policy is analogous to the old policy. Both fail to solve our problems.

D. Choose the phrase on the right that best completes each sentence on the left.

- c 1. The conditions on the planet of Mars are analogous a. to a five-star hotel.
- 2. With its state-of-the-art facilities, the new home for elderly people is analogous b. to a blanket.
- 3. Snow helps keep soil warmer in winter, so it is analogous c. to those found in deserts on Earth.

About the Topic

Altitude is height above sea or ground level. As you go up in altitude, air pressure decreases. This change has an effect on our bodies.

Before You Listen

Read these questions. Discuss your answers in a small group.

1. Would you ever go skydiving? Why or why not?
2. What are the most extreme temperature or weather conditions you have experienced?
3. Do you think space tourism will become a common way to travel in the future?

Listen

Read the Listen for Main Ideas activity below. Go online to listen to a news report on the world's first space jump. The report discusses how scientists studied Felix Baumgartner's body when he jumped from 24 miles above Earth's surface.

Listen for Main Ideas

Mark each sentence as T (true) or F (false). Work with a partner. Restate false sentences to make them correct.

- F 1. Felix Baumgartner jumped from below where planes normally fly.
He jumped from above where planes fly.
2. It took a long time to prepare for Baumgartner's jump.
3. Air pressure does not affect the body.
4. Baumgartner's jump gave scientists new information about the human body.

LISTENING SKILL

Analogies and Metaphors

LEARN

When you use figurative language, like analogies and metaphors, you use words or phrases in a way that creates a mental picture for the listener.

An analogy compares two different things to show that they have similar characteristics. The words and phrases as, like, and the same as are often used in analogies. Speakers use analogies to help their listeners visualize, understand, remember, and form conclusions about what is being said.

Life is like taking a journey around the world. You experience new things every day. With these new experiences, your understanding and knowledge increase, and you become better able to prepare for and deal with challenges.

A metaphor shows how two things have the same characteristics. A metaphor can create a strong image for the listener. A metaphor does not use the words and phrases as, like, or the same as.

My throat is on fire.

Time is a thief.

APPLY

A. Write A if the sentence contains an analogy or M if it contains a metaphor.

- M 1. Waves of emails came after she announced her retirement.
— 2. Some people think attending university is the same as a long vacation and that the real work begins after graduation. This is just not true.
— 3. Being in that class was like being on a sinking ship.
— 4. He was lost in a sea of people.

B. Go online to listen to part of the audio. Fill in the blanks below. After listening, mark the statements as either M (metaphor) or A (analogy) in the right column.

1. Baumgartner's suit worked much like an airplane ... by controlling airflow and air pressure and providing protection from the cold. A
2. In other words, he _____, moving faster than the speed of sound. —
3. Doctors and scientists placed equipment on Baumgartner _____ being sent on a long mission into space. —
4. As Baumgartner landed, the team that had designed his suit _____, cheering and hugging one another. —
5. His suit worked _____, protecting his body and helping him become the first human being to move faster than the speed of sound with just his body. —
6. Having stood _____ and survived, Baumgartner has given scientists new information about how the body reacts under extreme conditions. —

C. Work in a small group to create an analogy using each pair below. Discuss.

1. exercising / watering a garden

Exercising is like watering a garden. If you do it every day, you (like your plants) will be healthy and strong.

2. ants / human beings

3. starting a new job / starting a journey

D. Work in a small group to create a metaphor using each pair below. Discuss.

1. basketball / medicine

Basketball was her medicine. It helped relieve her stress.

2. the lecture / a gift

3. the exam / insane

Migrate means “to move from one part of the world to another according to the season.” In this sense, it usually refers to animals, especially some birds.

These birds migrate from the Arctic to Mexico for the winter.

In technical language, migrate also means “to move from one place to another.”

The virus will migrate to different parts of the body.

E. How or why do the following things migrate? Discuss your ideas with a partner.

1. Birds: to find food, _____, _____
2. Viruses: by direct contact, _____, _____

About the Topic

The flu, or influenza, is a type of virus that causes disease. If a person has immunity to a virus, it means the virus does not affect the person's body. A vaccination is a substance that is put into the blood in order to give a person immunity to a disease.

Before You Listen

Read these questions. Discuss your answers in a small group.

1. What are some things you do to avoid viruses and other illnesses?
2. Do you think laws should require people to get vaccinated for the flu?
Explain your answer.
3. What kinds of foods do you eat to give you energy or to fight an illness?

Listen

Read the Listen for Main Ideas activity below. Go online to listen to a doctor discuss how to prevent the flu. She also talks about how vaccinations work.

Listen for Main Ideas

Listen to the audio. Circle the letter of the answer that correctly completes each sentence.

1. The flu virus _____.
a. moves quickly from person to person c. usually stays in one place
b. moves slowly from person to person
2. Antibodies _____.
a. hurt your body c. help your body fight the flu
b. support the flu

PRESENTATION SKILL

Introducing a Presentation

LEARN

A formal presentation consists of an introduction, body, and conclusion. A good introduction to your presentation grabs the attention of the audience and helps them gain a clear understanding of what you are presenting. The following suggestions can help create a good introduction to a presentation.

1. Start with a brief greeting and tell your audience what your topic is.	Good afternoon. I'm going to talk about ... I'm Judith Chen. I'm here to discuss ...
2. Use an interesting hook such as an attention-grabbing question, statistic, photo, or quote.	Do you know how many ... ? There are one million people who ... "The art of medicine consists of amusing the patient." —Voltaire
3. Briefly explain the relevance or importance of your presentation topic.	This topic is important because ... This research can help us ... We have much to learn about ...
4. Give the audience an outline of your presentation.	First, I'm going to show you ... Then, I'm going to give you examples of ... After that, we'll look at ... Finally, I will take questions.

APPLY

-  A. Listen to the first part of the presentation. As you listen, write the expressions the presenter uses while introducing her presentation.

- Step 1 Good afternoon. It is very nice to be here today. My name is Dr. Linda Carrol, and I'm from the school health clinic. _____ how we can prevent the flu virus, also known as influenza.
- Step 2 Let me ask you this: _____ have had the flu virus?
- Step 3 Now, the flu virus migrates quickly from one person to the next, and it can keep you in bed for days. So, _____ how we can prevent the flu.
- Step 4 So, first, _____ what the flu is. Then, _____ you how our bodies fight it. Finally, _____ how we can prevent the flu.

- B. Work in a group of three or four. Develop an introduction for a presentation on one of the following topics:

1. how to fight an illness
2. how to survive your first year of college or first year working for a company
3. how to learn new vocabulary in English

Step 4

LEARN

Rhythm is a pattern of sound, and every language has its own particular rhythm. English rhythm has strong and weak sounds. Strong, important syllables come at regular intervals, and you say them fully and completely. Weak, unimportant syllables are shortened and squeezed in between the strong sounds.

Strong sounds are usually nouns, adjectives, adverbs, and main verbs. Weak words are usually articles, pronouns, prepositions, and auxiliary verbs.

- A. Go online to listen to the rhythm. Notice that it takes the same amount of time to say the words in each box.

O N E	T W O	T H R E E	F O U R
ONE and	TWO and	THREE and	FOUR and
ONE and a	TWO and a	THREE and a	FOUR and a
ONE-ey and a	TWO-ey and a	THREE-ey and a	FOUR-ey and a

- B. Listen to and repeat the words in Learn, activity A. Say all of the words. Keep the rhythm.
- C. Go online to listen to the sentences in the chart below. Notice how the weak words are shortened in order to maintain the rhythm.

COWS	EAT	GRASS.
The COWS can	EAT the	GRASS.
The COWS are	EATing some	GRASS.
His COWS have	EATen their	GRASS.
Some COWS will be	EATing the	GRASS.
Their COWS might have	EATen the	GRASS.
The COWS are going to be	EATing the	GRASS.
The COWS should not have been	EATing our	GRASS.

- A. Listen to and repeat the sentences in Learn, activity C with the speaker. Match the rhythm. Tap out the beat, so you can really hear it.
- B. Go online to listen to the content of the chart on page 11. The words and sentences in each column have the same stress pattern and rhythm. Repeat the words and sentences with a partner.

	●●	●●	●●●●	●●●●	●●●●●
Word	migrate	induce	infrastructure	analogy	considerable
Sentence	Do it!	Here's why.	Wait a minute!	They've triggered it.	I'm counting on you!

C. Write a short dialogue. Then share it with a partner. Pay careful attention to the rhythm of your dialogues.

A: The bus is leaving. I have to run.

B: Hey! Wait a minute!

End of Unit Task

In this unit, you learned how to listen for analogies and metaphors, and how to give an introduction to a presentation. Watch a short video on the flu. Then develop an introduction to a presentation with a partner.

1 A. Go online to watch a video about how the body fights the flu. Take notes on the metaphors that the speaker uses.

1. Inside him, his body is about to engage in all-out war with one of the most infectious viruses on the planet.
2. Flu viruses start _____ the tissue at the back of your throat.
3. Meanwhile, _____ of phagocytes floods the infection site. They have come to _____ their enemies.
4. It's a sign _____ inside him is heating up.
5. His body has launched a second _____.

B. Work with a partner. Considering ideas from the video, create an analogy about the flu. Refer to page 4 for a description of analogies. Include one or two statements that explain and support your analogy.

When your body fights the flu, the process is like two teams at a sporting event. They both go against each other, with each team trying to score more points than the other.

C. Work with a partner to develop an introduction for a presentation on how the body fights the flu. Use the steps for introducing a presentation, on page 9.

Step 1: _____

Step 2: _____

Step 3: _____

Step 4: _____

- D. Divide the parts of the presentation between you and your partner and practice giving your presentation. After practicing, revise your presentation.
- E. Take turns sharing your presentation with another group.
- F. Use the following chart to give feedback on the presentation you heard. For each part of the introduction, share your feedback with the other group.

Start with a brief greeting, telling your audience what your topic is.	a. clear and easy to understand b. somewhat clear and easy to understand c. unclear and difficult to understand
Use an interesting analogy or metaphor as a hook for your presentation.	a. clear and interesting b. somewhat clear and interesting c. unclear and uninteresting
Briefly explain the relevance or importance of your presentation topic.	a. clear and easy to understand b. somewhat clear and easy to understand c. unclear and difficult to understand
Give the audience an outline of your presentation.	a. clear and easy to understand b. somewhat clear and easy to understand c. unclear and difficult to understand

3. I spend a(n) (sufficient / insufficient) amount of time studying for this class.

About the Topic

The frontal lobe is a part of the brain that considers the results of an action. The frontal lobe develops as we get older. As a result, adults are normally better than children at resisting short-term desires and making long-term decisions.

Before You Watch

Read these questions. Discuss your answers in a small group.

1. What incentives motivated you to study when you were in high school?
2. When you make a decision, which is more important to you: short-term gratification or long-term incentives?
3. Psychology is often used to help people. What are some other ways that psychology is used?

Watch

Read the Listen for Main Ideas activity below. Go online to watch a video about the Stanford Marshmallow Experiment. The experiment shows that success in life may be related to your ability to avoid certain actions such as eating sweets.

Listen for Main Ideas

Work with a partner to answer the following questions.

1. What incentive was offered to the children in the Stanford University Marshmallow Experiment?
They could eat one piece of a treat now or wait for 15 minutes and get three pieces.

 - b. you have no reason not to do them
4. Giving yourself credit and praise for your accomplishments _____.
 - a. can help you move forward
 - c. is not necessary but useful
 - b. is easy for everyone

PRESENTATION SKILL

Stating, Rephrasing, and Illustrating

LEARN

When you state a main point or idea, rephrasing (or saying it again in different words) can help you to clarify your idea. Then you can illustrate the idea by using a specific example. This process gives the listener a better opportunity to understand and process what you have said.

Step 1 – State: State the main point or idea.

To accomplish your goals, you should try to set short-term objectives.

Step 2 – Rephrase: Restate the main point, or say it in a different way. Use key phrases to let your audience know you are rephrasing.

To put it differently, take smaller steps toward achieving your goals.

In other words, take smaller steps toward achieving your goals.

Another way to say this is that you should take smaller steps.

What I mean by that is that you should take smaller steps.

Step 3 – Illustrate: Illustrate the idea with an example.

For instance, plan just your afternoon instead of the whole month.

To give you a specific example, plan just your afternoon instead of the whole month.

APPLY

A. Listen to part of the audio again. Fill in the chart below.

State	Rephrase	Illustrate
Self-improvement means undertaking a new task or project to achieve a goal.	_____, the goal is accompanied by physical or mental work.	So, _____, you want to get in better shape but that requires exercise / changing how or what you eat.
OK. Well, tiny step number one is _____.	_____ is: Don't set huge, long-term goals. Instead, try for small successes.	_____, rather than deciding to lose 18 pounds in a month, commit to eating less for dinner and doing exercise tomorrow before work.
Tiny step number two: make new tasks easier to do	_____ is plan properly, so you have no justification for not doing what you wanted to do.	_____ that you go running every morning, but you don't feel very motivated at 7 a.m.

B. Look at the information about “tiny step” three. Working with a partner, discuss the correct order of the sentences.

- To put it differently, don't place all of your emphasis on the old, unwanted habits.
- So, to give you a specific example, instead of letting yourself get stressed about how you watch too much TV, change the circumstances that normally lead you to watch TV by planning a productive, fun activity for yourself.
- The third tiny step is to focus on creating new, positive behaviors.

C. Work with partner. Choose two of the four “tiny steps.” Next, state, rephrase, and illustrate each step in your own words. Then present your explanation of the two “tiny steps” to another group.

PRONUNCIATION SKILL

Reducing Function Words

LEARN

Function words include articles, auxiliary verbs, pronouns, prepositions, and short conjunctions. These are “grammar words” that carry relatively little information in a sentence. Because function words are considered “less important,” they usually contain the short, quiet schwa sound /ə/, which makes them difficult to hear.

- A. Look at the chart and go online to listen to the pronunciation. Notice how function words and the main verbs be and have are reduced.

Articles / Determiners	a → ə	an → ən	the → ðə	some → səm	→ the this her him them
Prepositions	for → fər	from → frəm	in → ɪn	to → tə / də
Pronouns	you → ju	your → jər	that → ðæt	it → ɪt
Short conjunctions	and → ən	or → ər	but → bət	that → ðæt
“Be” (main verb)	is → əz	are → ər	was → wəz	were → wər
“Have” (main verb)	has → əz	have → /əv/	had → /əd/

- B. Look at the chart and go online to listen to the reductions. Unstressed function words often sound the same.

End of Unit Task

In this unit, you learned how to outline lecture notes. You also learned how to help your audience understand your presentations by stating, rephrasing, and illustrating main ideas. Practice both of these skills by planning a short presentation.

- A. Choose one of the following topics to present.

- Present three interesting aspects of either your culture or another culture that you are familiar with.
- Present three keys to success at college or in a career.
- Present three tips for traveling on a small budget.

Word Form Chart
Noun	Verb	Adjective	Adverb
advocate	advocate	_____	_____
bias	bias	biased unbiased	_____
_____	_____	explicit	explicitly
_____	_____	implicit	implicitly inference	infer	_____	_____

- A. Complete the paragraph below with the target words from the Word Form Chart. Use the correct form and tense of each word.

When watching the news, it is important to listen for bias in
(1. in favor of one side)
the reporting of a news story. When a reporter states his / her opinion
_____, it is easy to understand which viewpoint he / she is
(2. clearly)
_____. However, many times opinions are stated _____,
(3. supporting) (4. not directly) which may make it harder to detect _____. In this case, you may have to _____ what the reporter's opinion is based on how the
(5. favoritism)
(6. conclude from reasoning) story is reported. Because of this potential confusion, some people have _____ for a return to traditional, _____ reporting of the news.
(7. recommended) (8. balanced)

It's easy to confuse the word infer WITH the word imply. A speaker may imply something without directly saying it, but a listener infers what the speaker means.

Based on the reporter's positive reaction, we can infer that he supports the policy.

The reporter seemed to imply that the policy was good for education.

- B. Complete each sentence with the correct form of either infer or imply.

- By saying that a significant amount of unfinished work exists, the article implies that the project would not be completed this year.
- Based on your advice, you seem to be _____ that I am the best person for the job. I'm not so sure.

3. Based on their remarks, you can _____ that they will call you back for a second interview.
4. The instructor _____ that I would get a high score in the class when she told me not to worry about my grade.
5. Considering the large size of the home in these ancient ruins, we can _____ that someone wealthy lived here.

C. Explicit means “saying something clearly, exactly, and openly.” Implicit means “suggested without being directly expressed.” For each sentence, write E for “explicitly stated” or I for “implicitly stated.”

- I 1. It might be beneficial to do the reading before taking the exam.
- ___ 2. You may not copy this product under any circumstances.
- ___ 3. To receive your license, you must pass the exam.
- ___ 4. This study guide helped many other people pass the exam, but I am not allowed to recommend a specific product.
- ___ 5. The contract is valid for three years only.

D. Parallel may mean either “two or more lines that are the same distance apart at every point” or “very similar or taking place at the same time.” Complete the chart with a partner.

Things that might be the same distance from your city center	Events that are taking place at the same time in your city this month
two rivers	a soccer game and a concert
_____	_____
_____	_____
_____	_____

E. Subordinate means “having less power or authority than someone else in a group or an organization.” Complete the sentences with appropriate words and phrases.

1. A regional manager is subordinate to a vice president.
2. Oftentimes, _____ are subordinate to their parents.
3. At a university, _____ are subordinate to _____.
4. In government, _____ is subordinate to _____.

About the Topic

A movie set is the place where a film is shot, or recorded. While shooting a film, a director may do several takes, or recordings, of one continuous scene in order to get it right. Meanwhile, visual effects are an important part of many movies now. Visual effects often include images that are created by computers. These are usually added after shooting the film.

Before You Listen

Read these questions. Discuss your answers in a small group.

1. When you meet up with your friends, what do you often do for fun?
2. What kinds of films do you watch?
3. In filmmaking, what job interests you most? Explain your answer.

Listen

Read the Listen for Main Ideas activity below. Go online to listen to a podcast called Behind the Scenes! The host interviews several people working on the set of a new film.

Listen for Main Ideas

Mark each sentence as T (true) or F (false). Working with a partner, restate false sentences to make them correct.

- T 1. The film is an adventure story.
- 2. The director has more authority than the producer on everything.
- 3. A visual-effects artist has complete freedom during the design process.
- 4. A stunt person's job is not always easy.
- 5. Background actors are free to do what they want on the set.

NOTE-TAKING SKILL

Recording Definitions

LEARN

A definition tells you the meaning of a word or concept. Speakers often define important words and concepts for their audience. Listen for key phrases that tell you when the speaker is giving a definition.

Filmmaking is defined as the process of creating motion pictures.

Filmmaking refers to the production of motion pictures.

A blockbuster film is characterized by great commercial success.

A blockbuster film signifies great commercial success.

After the key phrase, a speaker will often give information that defines the word he / she is trying to describe.

Word being defined	Key phrase	Defining information
Filmmaking	is defined as	the process of creating motion pictures.

APPLY

- A. Listen to the audio again. Match each job with the key phrase it is used with in the audio. Write brief notes about each job in the right column.

Job	Key phrase	Defining information
1. director	characterized as	1. interprets a story, makes it into a film; responsible for total vision
2. visual-effects artist	signifies	2. _____ _____
3. stunt person	refers to	3. _____ _____
4. background actor	defined as	4. _____ _____

- B. Compare your answers with a partner. Add any additional definitions or details that you think are important.

- C. With your partner, define one of the jobs in the chart, using your notes.

- D. With your partner, discuss three jobs that are interesting to you. Define each one and share your definitions with the class.

Vocabulary Activities

- A. Cross out the word or phrase in parentheses that has a different meaning from the other answers. Use a dictionary to help you understand new words.
1. One (effect / result / implication / ~~cause~~) of the new rule was the ability to give more scholarship money to students.
 2. The government recently began (charging / protecting / levying / collecting) taxes on consumer goods.
 3. The (organizations / occupants / residents / inhabitants) of the building were delighted by the urban garden project.
 4. Meadowbrook is a nice (residential area / apartment complex / housing area / rural area).
 5. Excellent customer service is a central part of the company's (philosophy / beliefs / rules / ideology).
 6. If you (violate / break / disregard / weaken) the law, you'll be fined $100.

Liberal means "generous or something given in large amounts."

The restaurant gives customers very liberal portions during lunch hours.

Liberal can also mean "not completely accurate or exact."

It was a liberal translation that changed the meaning of the original work.

In education, liberal means "increasing general knowledge and experience rather than particular skills."

A liberal arts education gives students an opportunity to explore more than one academic interest.

CORPUS

- B. For each sentence, indicate which meaning of liberal is being used. Write G for "generous," I for "inaccurate / inexact," or K for "general knowledge."

- G 1. He used to use a liberal amount of salt on all his food, but now he's watching his blood pressure, so he uses very little salt.
- ___ 2. The lawyer provided a liberal interpretation of the law in defending his client, in an attempt to get the charges dropped.
- ___ 3. Although she is liberal with her praise of the students, she expects them to work hard in class.
- ___ 4. The professor explained the programs offered at a liberal arts college.
- ___ 5. With a liberal amount of soap, Allen was able to clean the dirt from the floor.

Albeit means “although.” However, unlike although, albeit is never used with a phrase that contains a clause. (Remember, a clause is a phrase that includes a noun and a verb.)

The printed magazine resembles the online version, albeit without links to videos.

The printed magazine resembles the online version, although it does not include links to videos.

The city, albeit a small one, has many large buildings of historical importance.

Although the city is small, it has many large buildings of historical importance.*

C. Choose the best phrase on the right that completes each sentence on the left.

- | | |
|---|---|
|  c  1. Her blog receives much attention, | a. albeit briefly, during last night's game. |
| ___ 2. Many newspapers are still being printed, | b. albeit in a reduced format. |

| ___ 4. Bill Gates attended Harvard, | d. albeit for a short time, in the 1970s. |
| ___ 5. Our team looked like it was going to win, | e. albeit an expensive one, helped attract customers. |

D. Choose the target word that best collocates with each group of words below.

implicate levy liberal reside violate

1. liberal : quantity, serving, portion, amount
2. _____ : a fine, a tariff, a surcharge, a(n) _____
3. _____ : in a vicinity, in a neighborhood, in a home, at a(n) _____
4. _____ : in a wrongdoing, in a scandal, in an offense, in a(n) _____
5. _____ : the law, standards, a promise, a(n) _____

E. Choose a word from the box below to add to each list of words in activity D.

address agreement crime amount tax

F. Levy means “to use authority to demand and collect a payment,” especially a tax. Discuss four things taxes are levied on where you live.

1. State taxes are levied on personal income in Kentucky.
2. _____
3. _____
4. _____

About the Topic

A documentary film usually tries to report the facts of a real-life situation. For instance, a documentary about urban gardens might seek to explain how people are creating gardens in large cities. Some documentaries are well known for presenting a situation from a specific or unique perspective.

Before You Listen

Read these questions. Discuss your answers in a small group.

1. What types of documentary films are interesting to you?
2. If you were going to make a documentary, what would it be about?
3. How does an international student's experience differ from that of other students' experiences?

Listen

Read the Listen for Main Ideas activity below. Go online to listen to three students discuss an assignment that requires them to make a documentary-style film.

Listen for Main Ideas

Work with a partner to ask and answer the questions below.

1. What is the assignment that the students discuss? making a documentary
2. Is the documentary supposed to be a long or short film?
3. How many ideas do the students discuss?
4. What is one of the ideas for the documentary?

SPEAKING SKILL

Facilitating a Group Discussion

LEARN

In class, you may be asked to participate in group discussions. Facilitating discussions means to keep the conversation moving and include everyone. Facilitating a discussion includes introducing and concluding the discussion and giving speakers encouragement. Three other skills for facilitating a discussion are listed below, along with some language that you can use with each skill.

First, you want to guide the discussion. This means to keep the discussion progressing and not talk about any one thing for too long. Second, facilitating may include eliciting more details. This allows the group to learn more about the general idea and to learn about specific examples related to the topic. Third, you should ensure group participation. To do this, make sure everyone is involved in the discussion and that a variety of ideas is presented.

Facilitation skill	Useful phrases
Guiding the discussion	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Perhaps we could discuss another possible topic and come back to it ... • Why don't we move on. • I think we may have addressed this issue. Let's continue to ... • _____ • _____

A. Read the phrases below. Add them to the appropriate box in the chart above.

Could you specify what you mean?

What do you think about what she just said?

We only have two minutes left. Should we get back to the original topic?

B. Listen to the audio again. Using the chart above, check (✓) the phrases that you hear and compare your answers with a partner.

C. Work in a small group. Think of phrases that you can add to the chart above. Share your answers with the class.

D. In a small group, discuss the topic below. Assign a facilitation skill to each member of the group.

Changing media

Think about how your grandparents and parents got news. Compare the news media of the past with how you learn the news now. What has changed? Do you think the changes are good? Why or why not? How do you think the media might change in the future?

PRONUNCIATION SKILL

Reducing Auxiliary Verbs

LEARN

- A. Auxiliary verbs such as be, do, will, have, and would are unstressed function words. When you say them, they are shortened and usually joined to another word in the sentence. Go online and listen for the reductions.

be		do		will
am	/m, əm/	do	/də/	/əl/
are	/ər/	does	/s, z, dəz/	/wəl/
is	/s, z, əz/	did	/d, dəd/
was	/wəz/	have		would were	/wər/	has	/s, z, əz/	/d/
been	/bən/	have	/v, əv/	/əd/
being	/bɪŋ/			/wəd/

- B. Go online to hear how to reduce Wh- words + do you. Whodaya see? Whaddaya do? Whendaya leave? Wheredaya live? Whydaya say that? Howdaya pronounce this?
- C. After a Wh- question word, does and did can have more extreme reductions. Go online to listen and repeat some examples.

does	did
1. Who /dəz/ John report to?	1. Who /d/ he get in touch with?
2. What /s/ this mean?	2. What /d/ John want?
3. When /z/ the movie start?	3. When /d/ he get here?
4. Where /z/ he live?	4. Where /d/ I put my keys?
5. Why /z/ he do that?	5. Why /d/ he do that?
6. How /z/ this work?	6. How /d/ that happen?

- D. Unstressed auxiliaries verbs often sound the same. Look at the chart. Go online to listen to the sentences. Practice them with a partner.

	/s/	/z/	/əz/
is	1. My homework /s/ done.	When /z/ the deadline?	Your English /əz/getting better!
has	2. The clock /s/ stopped.	The dog /z/ disappeared.	My wish /əz/ come true!
does	3. What /s/ this mean?	Who /z/ this belong to?
	/d/	/əd/
had	4. You /d/ better stop that right now!	John /əd/ been to 14 countries by the time he was ten.

Whaddaya think about ...

Whydaya think ...

Howdaya feel about ...

Whodaya believe ...

Whendaya consider ...

Wheredaya guess ...

Whaddaya think about people using their cell phones everywhere they go?

End of Unit Task

In this unit, you learned how to listen for and record definitions. You also learned about ways to facilitate a group discussion. Now practice these skills.

- A. As a class, divide into two groups. Each group should brainstorm three important city programs or projects such as a citywide recycling program. As you brainstorm, use the facilitation skills that you learned in this unit.

Facilitation skill	Useful phrases
1. Guiding the discussion	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Perhaps we could discuss another topic and come back to it later. Why don't we move on. I think we may have addressed this issue. Let's continue to ... We only have two minutes left. Should we get back to the original topic?

- B. After you have three ideas, define each one by including defining information related to the idea. Continue to use your facilitation skills.
- C. Discuss your three ideas. Assign facilitation skills (1–3) to each member of your group: 1. guiding the discussion, 2. eliciting more details, 3. ensuring group participation.
- D. Imagine that the students in your group are city planners. You can only choose one of the group's ideas to implement. Using the facilitation skills that you learned, choose one idea to present to the rest of the class.
- E. Discuss your ideas as a class.
1. Explain why your group's idea for the city should be implemented. Make sure that you support your idea.
 2. As you listen and participate in the class discussion, check (✓) facilitation skills that you hear in the chart above.

Orient means “to direct someone or something toward” an area of interest.

This seminar is oriented toward people who are interested in photography.

Orient also means “to find your position in relation to your surroundings” or “to make yourself familiar with a new situation.”

During the snowstorm, the driver had difficulty orienting himself because it was hard to see.

It took a long time for me to orient myself to the new school.

- B. Check the meaning of orient used in each sentence. Write A for “area of interest,” P for “position,” or F for “familiarity.”

P 1. Try to keep the boat oriented toward the shore.

___ 2. Bob is not really oriented toward sports. He doesn't enjoy them much.

- 3. Let's see if this map helps us get oriented.
- 4. Children learn better when activities are oriented toward things they like to do.
- 5. It took a while for Brittany to become oriented with the group. She didn't know anyone there.

Negative is the adjective form of negate. It means “bad or harmful” or “lacking enthusiasm or hope.”

Substances that have a negative effect on the air and water are referred to as pollutants.

The outlook for the economy is negative. Growth will decline this year.

Negative also refers to scientific results that do not show evidence of a particular condition. Or, it expresses a refusal, or the answer “no.”

The results of the medical tests were negative, so Sarah is relieved.

I received a negative reply on my job application.

C. Circle the letter of the word or phrase that best matches the meaning of negative used in each sentence.

1. The results of the X-rays came back negative and showed that her broken bone is completely healed.

a. lacking evidence	b. lacking hope

1. The whiteboard is adjacent to the door.
2. The _____ is adjacent to the _____.
3. My seat is adjacent to _____.

E. A commodity is “a product or a raw material that can be bought and sold.” Work with a partner to list four more commodities.

1. oil
2. water
3. _____
4. _____
5. _____
6. _____

About the Topic

A decibel is a unit of measurement for sound. Humans speak at 65 decibels. Breathing is about 10 decibels, but a departing plane is about 90 decibels. Higher levels of sound can affect a person's health and blood circulation. Blood circulation is the movement of blood throughout the body.

Before You Listen

Read the following questions. Discuss your answers in a small group.

1. What is your favorite kind of music?
2. What is a positive experience you have had with music?
3. Do you think music can be beneficial? Explain your answer.

Listen

Read the Listen for Main Ideas activity below. Go online to listen to a weekly show that discusses issues in music. In this episode, the host interviews an expert on using sound, particularly music, to help people.

Listen for Main Ideas

Mark each sentence as T (true) or F (false). Work with a partner. Restate false sentences to make them correct.

- T* 1. The Sound Healing Center uses music to help people improve their lives.
- 2. Research has shown that music helps people.
- 3. Noise pollution is annoying, but it does not affect a person's health.
- 4. It is good to have time for silence every day.

LISTENING SKILL

Cause-and-Effect Relationships

LEARN

A cause is "what makes something happen." An effect is "the result of a cause." In many cases, a speaker can use a cause signal phrase at the beginning or in the middle of a sentence.

"The plane was delayed because of bad weather."

"Because of bad weather, the plane was delayed."

Cause: bad weather → Effect: plane delayed

In lectures, presentations, and discussions, speakers often talk about cause-and-effect relationships to show connections between important points. Look at the signal phrases that show cause-and-effect relationships in the charts on page 41.

Cause signal phrases (reason)

The flight delay was caused by / due to / attributable to bad weather.

Because of bad weather, the flight was delayed.

Since the weather conditions were extremely poor, the flight was delayed.

Effect signal phrases (result)

The weather conditions were extremely poor. As a result / Consequently, the flight was delayed.

The weather conditions were extremely poor, causing the flight to be delayed.

The weather conditions were extremely poor, resulting in the flight being delayed.

APPLY

A. For each sentence, circle the cause and underline the effect.

- Shania's high grades were attributable to long hours studying
- The internship went very well. Consequently, the company offered Lee a full-time position.
- Price inflation was caused by an increase in the money supply.

B. Work with a partner. Discuss two sentences that you can make using each set of terms and signal phrases.

- growing economy / more jobs / result in / because of The growing economy has resulted in more jobs. / Because of the growing economy, there are more jobs.
- trained every day for a year / made the team / as a result / since
- ___ / ___ / due to / resulting in

 C. Read the information in the chart below. Then listen to part of the audio again and complete the chart based on the cause-and-effect relationships you hear.

Cause	Effect
1. Since we serve so many different purposes,	we have a really wide range of programs ...
2. _____ a well-functioning body.	Our ability to successfully perform tasks at work ... can be at least partly
... there is always movement of people and machines,	3. _____

 D. Listen to the last part of the audio again. Work with a partner. Using the notes below and the signal words in the chart at the top of the page, discuss the cause-and-effect relationships that you hear.

- noise day and night → a person's health There is a lot of noise day and night. Consequently, this noise can sometimes affect a person's health.
- sounds from planes → stress
- noise from machines around the house → families

About the Topic

Tone is the quality of a sound. Mandarin is a tonal language in which the meaning of a word may change based on how high or low a sound is, or on a person's voice pitch. Accent is something different. Accent refers to how someone pronounces a language without affecting the meaning of the words.

Before You Watch

Read these questions. Discuss your answers in a small group.

1. What are some interesting characteristics of your native language(s)?
2. Do you think good musicians are born with natural talent? Explain your answer.
3. What instrument do you think is the most difficult to play?

Watch

Read the Listen for Main Ideas activity below. Go online to watch a presentation about perfect pitch. Based on research, certain factors may determine whether or not someone has perfect pitch.

Listen for Main Ideas

Read the questions about the video. Work with a partner to ask and answer these questions.

1. What age group is most likely to develop perfect pitch? Those who begin studying music before the age of four are more likely to develop perfect pitch.
2. Why are Chinese music students more likely to develop perfect pitch?
3. Why does the presenter use the word ma as an example?
4. Why is it difficult to learn new sounds later in life?

LEARN

When you give an academic presentation, you need to present evidence that supports the information that you present. This gives you credibility, meaning your audience has reason to believe and trust what you say. An important part of correct citation is acknowledging the sources of any data, quotes, or ideas that you mention. In other words, you should cite your sources. When you cite sources, you also demonstrate that you have thoroughly researched your topic.

Phrases like those in the chart below, signal that you are citing others' work.

Citing sources

In an article published in the [printed source], [person's name] claims ...

A [year] study by [person's name] found ...

According to [person's name], ...

This / My information comes from ...

A. Read the sentences below. Then watch part of the presentation again and fill in the blanks.

1. The Psychological Bulletin found that adults cannot learn perfect pitch.
2. In an article _____ in the American Journal of Human Genetics, Baharloo _____ 600 music students in the U.S. and Europe.
3. Now let's look at a _____ by Diana Deutsch, which appeared in the Journal of the Acoustical Society of America.
4. _____ Deutsch, perfect pitch is more common among speakers of tonal languages such as Mandarin and Vietnamese.
5. Deutsch's 2006 experiments _____ through the use of empirical evidence that tonal-language speakers do not vary their pitch.

B. Work with a partner. Using the phrases in the chart above, cite each sentence in Apply activity A in your own words.

According to the Psychological Bulletin, adults cannot learn perfect pitch.

C. Work with a partner. Discuss three kinds of sources that are acceptable for an academic or professional presentation, and two kinds of sources that are not.

Reducing Modal Verbs

LEARN

English speakers reduce modal verbs in both formal and informal situations. Unstressing and reducing these auxiliaries will help you to express yourself clearly.

- A. Go online to listen to reduced modals. Notice that the sentence stress falls on an important content word. The stressed words are written in pink below.

I could do it.

I should do it.

That must be hard.

I must insist!

- B. Pronounce can and can't differently. Go online to listen to four ways to do this.

1. Say /æ/ in can't. Say /ə/ in can.

3. When can't is followed by a consonant, hold your breath instead of making the t sound. Then pause briefly.

2. Stress can't. Unstress can.

4. Drop the t when can't is followed by a vowel sound. Link the word after can't with the n sound.

- C. In fast speech, you reduce the modals. Go online to listen.

	Careful speech	Informal spelling	Everyday reduction
1.	(be) going to	gonna	I'm /gənə/ go .

End of Unit Task

In this unit, you learned about cause-and-effect relationships and how to cite sources for presentations. Practice these skills by going online to listen to a short podcast about two Voyager spacecraft, which are currently carrying messages from Earth into outer space. Then present the Voyager story, citing sources.

A. As you listen to the podcast, record the cited sources in the chart below.

Paraphrase main ideas	Sources
1. a "golden record" of Earth sounds	1. the Journal of Space Science
2. drums, Indian chants, bagpipes + wind, rain, traffic, etc.	2. _____
3. designed to survive for a billion years	3. _____
4. Voyager already passed Jupiter, Saturn, and Neptune	4. _____
5. check for updates	5. _____

- B. Compare your sources with a partner.
- C. Now use the chart to “present” the Voyager story to your partner, mentioning all of the main ideas and citing sources, using examples from the chart on page 45. On your own chart, put a check mark (✓) next to each idea and source that your partner mentions.
- D. Work with a partner. Use the cause-and-effect signal phrases in the chart and the pairs of ideas below it to discuss different aspects of the Voyager spacecraft.

Cause signal phrases	Effect signal phrases
caused by	as a result

SPEAKING SKILL

Expressing and Responding to an Opinion

LEARN

At some point, you may need to participate in formal discussions at school or in the workplace. During formal discussions, you will need to express your opinion to colleagues or a small or large group.

Phrases for expressing an opinion

From my point of view, this is ...

As far as I am concerned, it is ...

To be honest, I would argue that ...

When you respond to an opinion, you should do it calmly and politely.

When you partially agree, you disagree or agree with only part of something. Partially agreeing shows your understanding of others' opinions. It also allows you to focus on key points that you disagree with.

Remaining neutral means that you do not agree or disagree. You remain neutral if you have not formed your opinion yet or if you want to hear more before you form your own opinion.

Phrases for responding to an opinion
Disagreeing politely	Partially agreeing	Remaining neutral
I understand what you are saying, but ...	I'm in agreement with you for the most part. Except, ...	I'm still trying to determine how I feel about it.
I view it somewhat differently.	To some extent, you are right. However, ...	I haven't made up my mind yet.
I'm not entirely sure that I agree.	I partially agree with you, but ...	I'd like to hear more before I decide.

C. Complete the paragraph below using the target words from the box. Use the correct form and tense of each word.

In recent years, some economists have called for greater economic integration (1. combining) between the public and private (2. areas). They believe that this is necessary to increase the (3. total) efficiency of a country's economy. However, one (4. limitation) to economic (5. incorporation) is disagreement over how to (6. unite) the different parts of the economy.

Integral is an adjective that means "being an essential (or important) part of something." It is used to express how a part relates to a whole.

A shared sense of responsibility is integral to the success of a community.
part whole

Reliability is an integral aspect of teamwork.
part whole

D. Use the words and phrases in parentheses to complete the sentences.

- Form is an integral element of art. (form / art)
- Regular _____ is integral to overall good _____. (health / exercise)
- Some economists claim that _____ is an integral component of _____. (financial gain / risk)
- _____ is integral to a successful _____. (practice / performance)
- Both _____ and _____ are integral aspects of _____. (intonation / communication / gestures)
- _____ can play an integral role in a person's _____. (professional success / networking)

About the Topic

A loan is money that a bank lends to a person. When someone wants a loan, a bank will often check that person's credit history to assess risk. If that person has paid his / her debts in the past, he / she will normally have a good credit history. Therefore, loaning money to someone with a good credit history is less of a risk for the bank.

Before You Watch

Read the following questions. Discuss your answers in a small group.

1. If you were going to open a new business, what kind of business would you start?
2. What do you think is the hardest part of owning and operating a business?
3. What is the most successful industry in your country? Explain your answer.

Watch

Read the Listen for Main Ideas activity below. Go online to watch a podcast about how microcredit is helping people around the world create new lives for themselves.

Listen for Main Ideas

Mark each sentence as T (true) or F (false). Work with a partner. Restate false sentences to make them correct.

- T 1. Microcredit is the process of providing small loans to people who normally would not be able to get a bank loan.
2. The Grameen Bank has been in decline since it opened.
3. The use of microcredit is growing in Africa.
4. One problem with microcredit is that there is no incentive to repay the loan.

LISTENING SKILL

Inferences

LEARN

You make an inference when you decide that something is probably true based on the information that you have. Being able to make inferences is important because not all information is explicitly stated. When you make an inference, think about the speaker's opinion, attitude, and tone. Also, ask yourself what the speaker's purpose or area of interest is. Look at the example below.

"As a doctor, I say regular health checks are no laughing matter. I suggest going to see your local medical practitioner once a year. Regular check-ups can help prevent serious problems from developing."

The speaker is a doctor, promoting the importance of health checks. Based on this information, we can reasonably infer that the statement "regular health checks are no laughing matter" means that getting a regular check-up is an important thing to do.

Checking for Understanding

LEARN

When you check for understanding, you restate what you have heard in your own words. Checking for understanding lets you (1) see if you understood correctly, (2) highlight important points, and (3) clarify details.

Sample phrases for checking for understanding

I just want to make sure that I've got this straight. What you're saying is ...

So, if I understand it correctly, ...

Let me make sure that I understand.

Now you mentioned that ... , right?

So, in essence, what you're telling us is ...

After checking for understanding, you will often want to ask follow-up questions to get more information or emphasize the point of clarification.

Sample phrases for follow-up questions

What do you generally do in that situation?

Is that what you wanted to point out?

Is that a fair characterization of your idea?

What is the next step in the process?

APPLY

A. Discuss the statements below with a partner. Use sample phrases from the chart above to check for understanding.

1. "Student test scores might not be the only way to judge a school's performance." So, if I understand you correctly, exam results are not the only factor in determining a school's performance.
2. "Traveling gave me deeper insight into not only the world but also my own culture."
3. "Microcredit helps people who would not normally be able to receive a loan get a loan for their businesses."

B. Work with a partner. What follow-up question would you ask for each statement in activity A? Use the phrases in the chart to help you.

 C. Go online to listen to part of the interview again. Fill in the chart below.

5. Now, you _____ that some lenders make five percent on a loan, right?

6. _____ generally earn on a loan?

7. So, _____, what you're telling us is that the lender becomes a part of the process.

8. Is that _____ characterization?

D. Looking at the phrases for checking for understanding activity C, discuss with a partner some different follow-up questions that you could ask for 2, 4, 6, and 8.

E. Work with a partner. One of you is Person A and one of you is Person B.

1. Person A explains the concept of microlending to Person B. Then Person B checks for understanding and asks a follow-up question.
2. Person B explains the concept of a field partner. Then Person A checks for understanding and asks a follow-up question.

- at a bank or credit union

About the Topic

Linguistics is the study of how languages are structured and how they develop. Two theories studied in linguistics are Universalism and Relativism. Universalism means "true or right at all times and places." Relativism is a "belief that something people think is true may not always be valid and that truth should be judged based on specific circumstances."

Before You Listen

Read these questions. Discuss your answers in a small group.

1. What is the most difficult language to learn?
2. Do you think speaking a language is entirely learned, or is it an inherent ability that people are born with?
3. Do different languages have different ways of expressing thoughts and feelings? Explain your answer.

Listen

- ___ 1. Linguistic Relativism says that the language we speak affects how we think and how we view the world.
- ___ 2. Linguistic Universalism says that all humans see the world in similar ways.
- ___ 3. According to one study, German and Spanish speakers think about and experience a bridge in the same way.
- ___ 4. The professor supports Linguistic Universalism.

NOTE-TAKING SKILL

Telegraphic Language

LEARN

During a lecture, you should take notes on main ideas, supporting information, and keywords. Do not try to write down every word you hear. It takes too much time, and you may lose track of what the lecturer is saying.

To follow the lecture and take good notes, use short forms of words when you write the information that you hear. Remember, there is no one correct way to write notes. Develop a system that works well for you.

Use Telegraphic Language: In your notes, you can ignore grammar rules and write only keywords and phrases. You can also omit vowels from words to write information faster.

Use Abbreviations and Symbols: Use the abbreviations and symbols in the chart on page 77 to represent words from a lecture or speech as you write your notes. Use numbers to stand for numerical values.

Word	Abbreviation	Word	Symbol
with, without	w/, w/o	equal / not equal	= ≠
because	b/c	increase / decrease	< >
and so on	etc.	causes / becomes	→

PRONUNCIATION SKILL

Chunking, Pausing, and Intonation

LEARN

Use chunking, pausing, and intonation to help listeners process information.

- A. Use chunking to list items in a series. Pause and use rising intonation at the end of each item. Signal the end of your list with falling intonation. Go online to listen.

Words	I've been to Spain , Greece , Italy , and Jamaica .
Phrases	I'd like a double cheeseburger , a large order of fries , and a small Coke .
Clauses	I'd like to know where you went , how long you were there , and who you went with .
Independent clauses	I can sing , I can play the guitar , and I can dance .

- B. Use chunking and pausing to divide explanatory speech into manageable units. Use rising intonation to signal there is more to come and falling intonation when you are finished. Go online to listen.

My first name's Jennifer:

| That's J-E-N | N-I-F | E-R.

My last name's Tomlinson:

APPLY

- A. Go online to listen to a woman giving personal information. Notice her chunking, pausing, and intonation. Draw in pause marks (|) and intonation arrows.
1. My middle name's Katherine. | You spell it | k as in kite | a as in alpha | t as in tango | h as in hotel | e as in echo | r as in Romeo | i as in India | n as in November | and e as in echo.

 6. The password's a bit tricky. It's xq*E_257#AH-3.

- B. Work with a group. Practice saying and hearing important words and numbers.
 Speakers: Use chunking, pausing, and intonation to guide your listeners.
 Listeners: Write what you hear and check your comprehension.

I live on Columbus Street. That's C-Ō | L-U-M | B-U-S.

- C. With a partner, share some of your favorites, using topics from the chart below. Answer with a list of at least three items. Your partner should write your answers, and mark them for pausing and intonation. You will do the same for your partner's answers.

A. What are your favorite ice cream flavors?

B. Mango, | raspberry sorbet, | and chocolate mint chip.

What are your favorite ...

End of Unit Task

In this unit, you learned about ways to take notes using abbreviations, symbols, and telegraphic language. You also learned how to summarize academic research. Review these skills by developing a summary with a small group. (If possible, work in a group of three.)

- A. What are some interesting research projects or studies that you have heard or read about recently?

- B. Write notes about your research topic. If needed, use the Internet or a library to look up more information for your summary.

NOTE-TAKING SKILL

The Cornell Note-Taking Method

LEARN

The Cornell Method is a way to take notes. You start by dividing your paper into three sections as shown below. The three sections help you take notes in class, study what you wrote down, and remember what you heard. Read the instructions off to the right for the Cornell Method.

Section A	Section B
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• What type of research does the speaker do?• _____• _____• _____	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• qualitative research = entrepreneurialism• changed research → turning ideas into products• tradespeople• _____• _____• _____• cheaper than established companies• students' skills and _____• _____
Section C

Take notes here. Compare your notes with a partner. Then add information.

Write questions here about the notes you took in Section B.

Here, write a summary of the notes from Section B.

APPLY

- Go online to watch part of the video and complete Section B in the notes box above.
- Compare your answers with a partner. Add any additional information you think might be important.
- Write a question in Section A for each point in Section B. Work with a partner. Ask and answer each other's questions. Confirm or correct the information in Section B.
- As a class, create a summary in Section C in the box above.

(7. land) This will help me expand my business.

About the Topic

Crop rotation is the practice of growing different things on different parts of the land in different years. Crop rotation helps to maintain the health of the soil and to increase production. As a result, this practice allows farmers to earn greater revenues, or money received from a business.

Before You Listen

Read the following questions. Discuss your answers in a small group.

1. Which kinds of businesses earn large revenues in your country?
2. Would you rather work for a small company or a large company? Explain your answer.
3. What kinds of crops do farmers usually grow in your state?

Listen

Read the Listen for Main Ideas activity below. Go online to listen to a radio show where a small business owner talks about what it takes to make a business successful.

Listen for Main Ideas

Mark each sentence as T (true) or F (false). Work with a partner. Restate false sentences to make them correct.

- F 1. The business owner operates his own sales company. He is a farmer.
2. According to him, organization and planning are important for successfully operating a business.
3. Agricultural subsidies can help some farmers in a time of need.
4. It is easy for farmers to leave the farm for long periods of time.

SPEAKING SKILL

Supporting an Opinion

LEARN

In a university class or professional setting, you may be asked to discuss or present your opinion on a topic. Giving only your opinion, however, is often not enough. You will probably be expected to provide support for your opinion.

For example, imagine someone says the following:

In my opinion, all new drivers should have to take a road test.

The speaker may support his / her statement with examples, statistics (i.e., numerical data), information from an expert, or personal experience.

Example

When new drivers take road tests, they learn a great deal about driving from instructors. This process improves safety.

Statistics

In countries without road tests, there are higher rates of accidents among new drivers.

Expert opinion

Several academic studies have shown that road tests increase safety.

Personal experience

When I was young, I received my license without a road test, and I did not feel prepared to drive. I believe a road test would have helped me.

D. Match the appropriate responses in Column B to the statements you circled in Column A by inserting the corresponding problem number.

E. Work with a partner. Look at the statements that you did not circle in Apply, activity C. Write possible responses. Practice the new dialogues.

A: Why don't you ask Lee?

B: Because I don't think he knows.

End of Unit Task

In this unit, you learned how to take notes using the Cornell Method. You also learned how to support your opinions. Practice both of these skills by creating a presentation with a partner.

A. Choose a company that you are familiar with or that you are interested in.

B. Create a presentation about the company you chose in activity A. Answer the following questions to help you develop your presentation.

I. Introduction

What does the company do? _____

What does it produce? _____

Where does it operate? _____

What size is it? _____

II. Your Opinion on the Strengths of the Company

What does the company do well? _____

How is the quality of its products? _____

How successful is the company? _____

III. Your Opinion on Its Weaknesses

In what ways is the company weak? _____

How is the quality of its products? _____

What could the company do better? _____

IV. Conclusion

What is your prediction with respect to the future of the company?

- C. With your partner, revise your presentation. Make sure that you support your statements and opinions about the company that you selected with examples, statistics, expert opinions, and personal experience.
- D. Work with another pair of students. Take turns sharing your presentations with each other. As you listen, take notes on the other presentation in Section B.
- E. Continue working with the other pair, and complete Section A. Take turns asking each other at least two questions from your notes.
- F. Write a summary of the other group's presentation in Section C. Take turns sharing summaries.

About the Topic

Emissions are gases that are sent out into the air. Electric cars do not directly burn fuels that give off emissions. Instead, they run on batteries that a person can recharge by using electricity. Because electric cars are newer than traditional automobiles, experts often pay particular attention to their performance and reliability ratings.

Before You Listen

Read these questions. Discuss your answers in a small group.

1. What are some interesting uses of robots in recent years?
2. What are some benefits of driving an electric car?
3. What are some disadvantages of driving an electric car?

Listen

Read the Listen for Main Ideas activity below. Go online to listen to an interview at a car company. The employee at the automotive plant shares information on electric-powered cars and automation.

Listen for Main Ideas

Mark each sentence as T (true) or F (false). Work with a partner. Restate false sentences to make them correct.

- T 1. The Model V is an electric-powered car.
- 2. Consumer reports have given the Model V low ratings.
- 3. According to the interview, the car has many functions.
- 4. Robots only perform very basic tasks at the Mata factory.

LISTENING SKILL

Facts and Opinions

LEARN

Distinguishing between a fact and an opinion can be difficult. Speakers often state facts using statistics, names, dates, places, or events.

Last year, housing prices rose by five percent.

The event took place in Detroit in 1984.

An opinion expresses someone's feelings, thoughts, or judgments about something. Remember that sometimes facts are used to support an opinion. Notice that the second part of the following sentence is an opinion.

We have been building robots for 50 years, and we do an excellent job.

Here are some things to listen for to help you determine whether something is an opinion.

Superlative statements	Adverbs and adjectives	Doubt and probability
Our floor design is the most elegant one in the city.	We have received a considerable amount of support.	It might be a good idea.
We carry the finest fruits and vegetables.	They are hardworking .	We should probably delay the project.
This is the worst proposal that I have ever seen.	We received insufficient funding for the project.	The athlete has some potential.

About the Topic

The sun is a major source of ultraviolet light on Earth. Humans cannot see ultraviolet light directly with our eyes, but we do use it. Ultraviolet light is sometimes used to kill bacteria and germs that cause infections, or illnesses caused by bacteria.

Before You Watch

Read the following questions. Discuss your answers in a small group.

1. How can robots improve medicine and health services?
2. What should the primary focus of a country's health care system be?
3. What are the characteristics of a good doctor?

Watch

Read the Listen for Main Ideas activity below. Go online to watch a student describe her research project. She discusses some of the ways that robots are being used in medicine.

Listen for Main Ideas

Read the questions about the video. Work with a partner to ask and answer these questions.

1. What is the future outlook for the use of robots in medicine?
 - a. The use of robots is expected to increase in medicine.
 - b. Robots will be used only for basic patient services.
 - c. Robots may not be used to communicate with patients.
2. What do remote-presence robots do?
 - a. They visit people's homes in emergencies.
 - b. They detect problems before a doctor can.
 - c. They allow a doctor to visit patients even if the doctor is not at the hospital.
3. Why are robots able to clean better than humans can?
 - a. They use more advanced cleaners.
 - b. They use ultraviolet light.
 - c. They have more cleaning tools.
4. How well have surgical robots performed for doctors who have used them?
 - a. Surgical robots have performed well.
 - b. Surgical robots have not performed well.
 - c. We do not have accurate data yet.

SPEAKING SKILL

Polite Requests and Interruptions

LEARN

When you make a polite request, you ask for something formally. Being able to make polite requests is important in academic and professional settings because it conveys a serious and professional attitude.

Polite requests

If you have a moment, could you please explain more about your research methods?

If possible, could you explain more about your research methods?

Would you be able to tell us more about your research methods?

Could you perhaps tell us more about your research methods?

When you interrupt someone, you start speaking before that person has completely finished. Interrupting is a difficult skill to develop because it can be considered impolite. Nonetheless, in a professional setting, you may need to interrupt someone. If you do interrupt someone, make sure you do so at an appropriate time and in a polite way.

When you might consider interrupting ...

Group meeting
Class discussion
Study session
Discussion with a partner

When you might avoid interrupting ...

Class or professional presentation
Professor's lecture

Polite interruptions

If I could just interject something, the data seem to indicate an increase.

I'd like to make a remark on that. The data seem to indicate an increase.

Sorry, I'd like to add something to what you just said. The data seem to indicate an increase.

If you don't mind, may I stop you for a moment? Where did you find the data?

I'm sorry to interrupt, but could you explain where you found the data?

APPLY

A. Work with a partner. Discuss different polite requests for the situations below.

1. You want to get information on rental options from a car company employee.
2. You want a presenter to explain what he / she said again.
3. You want to know more about the project your boss has assigned you.

B. Read the statements below. Then go online to watch part of the video again, and fill in the blanks.

1. Sorry to interrupt, but I was wondering ...
2. _____ how the robots are able to move around the hospital?
3. Yes, _____ on that, actually.
4. _____ tell us whether or not doctors have commented on this potential problem?
5. If I _____ for a moment, I know that many cleaning companies have begun to incorporate robots ...

C. Look at the statements in activity B. With a partner, discuss which ones are polite requests and which are polite interruptions.

LEARN

In spoken English, use stress to draw attention to focus words. A focus word is the most important idea in a chunk. Every English chunk has at least one focus word. It sounds stronger, longer, clearer, and usually higher than the other words in the phrase. Choosing focus words to highlight the main idea in a sentence is called sentence focus. Use this skill to introduce new information and signal special emphasis.

- A. Go online to listen. The focus words written in pink below introduce a new topic in each sentence or phrase. Notice that this new information is usually the last content word (noun, main verb, adjective, adverb) in the chunk.

The Model V electric car | causes 50 percent less CO₂. | So, when you're driving one of our cars, | you're helping | to offset CO₂ emissions. | Also, | don't forget: | Natural resources | are finite. | We can't continue | to exploit our resources | and hope | that they'll never run out. | Electric | is the future.

- B. Listen to the above content again. Notice how repeated information is unstressed because it is no longer new. The combination of stress and unstress creates contrast between the focus words and the other words in the phrases.

APPLY

- A. Go online to listen to the sentences. Circle the focus word in each chunk.
1. That's a great question
 2. Robotics | is an extremely fascinating field.
 3. There are thousands of robots | doing a wide variety of tasks | in hospitals.
 4. Robots | can use | very sensitive GPS equipment.
 5. Robots | are far better | at cleaning | than humans.
- B. Go online to listen to five conversations. On a separate sheet of paper, write out the conversations. Chunk when necessary and underline the focus words. Compare your answers with a partner.
- C. Practice the conversations in Apply, activity B with a partner. Create contrast by making focus words extra strong, extra long, extra high, and extra clear. Give significantly less stress to the other words in the sentences.
- D. Work with another partner. Write two short conversations that contrast new and old information. Practice the conversations and teach them to another group.

A: I ran into this guy.

B: What guy?

A: A guy from one of my classes.

B: Which class?

A: My physics class.

- E. Practice the conversation below with your partner. Stretch out the words that add special emphasis. Then practice similar exchanges using the intensifying adverbs so, totally, very, incredibly, and extremely.

A: I'm r-e-a-l-l-y tired.

B: How tired are you?

A: I'm s-o-o-o tired that I could sleep for a week.

End of Unit Task

In this unit, you learned how to listen for facts and opinions. You also learned about ways to interrupt politely and make polite requests. Review these skills by discussing a new technology with a partner.

Before beginning the tasks below, go online and find at least four facts about a new technology that is interesting to you. Then complete activity A.

- A. Think of an interesting new technology. Write four different types of facts and three different types of opinions about the technology that you researched.

Fact statements

1. (name, date)
2. (place, event)
3. (statistic)
4. (statistic)

Opinion statements

1. (superlative)
2. (adverbs or adjective)
3. (doubt or probability)

- B. Work in a small group of three. Take turns discussing the facts and opinions about the technology that you chose. As you listen to your group members share their information, politely interrupt each speaker twice. Make sure that you use different phrases listed in the chart below. Check (✓) the phrases you used.

Polite ways to interrupt

If I could just interject something, ...

I'd like to make a remark on that.

Sorry, I'd like to add something to what you just said.

If you don't mind, may I stop you for a moment?

I'm sorry to interrupt, but where did you find the data?

- C. Write three different types of polite requests that you can use to get more information about the technology that your group discussed. As you write your polite requests, you may want to refer to page 104.

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____

- D. As a class, choose someone (could be the instructor) to present a new technology or gadget. Use three polite interruptions and three polite requests.

1. As the person is presenting, raise your hands and use one of the phrases to interrupt politely. After interrupting, make a polite request for information about the technology that is being presented.
2. Take notes on the three polite interruptions and requests that are made.
3. After the presentation, discuss your notes as a class.

Polite interruptions	Polite requests
1. _____	1. _____
2. _____	2. _____
3. _____	3. _____

Discussion Questions

With a partner or in a small group, discuss the following questions.

1. What are some ways that robots may play a greater role in our lives in the future?
2. Despite future developments in technology, what kinds of tasks or jobs will humans always be able to do better than robots can?
3. Some scientists have predicted that technology will one day allow robots to think independently. Do you think this will be possible?

About the Topic

Ethnography is the study of the customs of individual people and cultures through close observation. Some researchers have lived in remote, or isolated, places to conduct an ethnographic study of a cultural group up close. Ethnographic studies can allow for detailed and insightful observations.

Before You Listen

Read the questions below. Discuss your answers in a small group.

1. What is the most remote place you have ever been to?
2. If you could go anywhere in the world, where would you go?
3. What cultural group would you be interested in studying?

Listen

Read the Listen for Main Ideas activity below. Go online to listen to a professor discuss her ethnographic study of Inuit people in Canada's Nunavut Territory.

Listen for Main Ideas

Choose the letter of the best answer to complete each sentence.

1. Nunavut has _____.
 - a. hot summers
 - b. a moderate climate
 - ☒ c. a cold climate
2. Nunavut covers _____.
 - a. a large area
 - b. a small area
 - c. an area the size of Spain

 - c. lacking transportation resources
5. The speaker _____.
 - a. had difficulty with the Inuit people
 - b. enjoyed the experience
 - c. also studied climate change

NOTE-TAKING SKILL

Synthesizing Information

LEARN

When you listen to a lecture, in order to better understand and think critically about what you have heard, you can follow a three-step process. First, note key information and facts that you hear. Second, use the key information to identify the concepts that the speaker is talking about. Third, after you have recorded the key information and identified the concepts, synthesize the two by deciding what the information means or what your opinion of the information is.

APPLY

- A. Go online to listen to part of the audio again. In the first column, record the key information that you hear.

Key information	Concepts
Nunavut temperature → _____	Commun & travel are challenges
Nunavut size = _____, communities are spread out	How can the govt improve connxn b/w towns
Travel b/w towns by _____	Challenges of living in cold climate
Traditional culture _____ _____	_____ _____ _____
Education _____ _____ _____	_____ _____ _____ _____

- B. Work in a small group. Using the key information, think of at least one related concept for each set of information and write the concept in the right column in the chart in activity A. Share your answers with the class.
- C. Continue working in your small group. Choose two of the concepts from the chart in activity A.
- _____
 - _____
- D. With your small group, synthesize the key information and related concepts that you chose.
- What is their significance?
 - What is your opinion on them?

Vocabulary Activities

- A. Complete the chart with the correct forms of the target words. If you need help, use a dictionary.

Word Form Chart
Noun	Verb	Adjective	Adverb
_____	_____	concurrent	1. concurrently
2. _____	deduce	_____	_____
3. _____	4. _____	manipulative	_____
5. _____	mediate	_____	_____
6. _____	7. _____	terminal	8. _____

- B. The word mediate has several meanings. Match the dictionary definitions on the left with the example sentences on the right.

mediate

Definitions

- b 1. to try to end a disagreement between two or more people or groups by talking to them and trying to find things they can agree on
- _____ 2. to succeed in finding a solution to a disagreement between people or groups
- _____ 3. to influence something or make it possible for it to happen

Example Sentences

- a. Innovation is mediated by investment in research.
- b. The lawyer is currently mediating the dispute between the two companies.
- c. The head officer successfully mediated an agreement between the two agencies.

C. The word core has several meanings. Write a, b, or c to show which meaning of core is used in each sentence.

a. the hard, central part of a fruit

b. the central part of an object

c. the most important part of something

- b 1. The Earth's core is extremely hot.
___ 2. Sander ate the apple and threw away the core.
___ 3. The core reason for the trip was to take time to relax.
___ 4. The generator is located in the core of the building.
___ 5. The core objective of the firm is to find and hire young talent.

D. Manipulate means "to control or use something in a skillful way." Match each person on the left with something they might manipulate.

6. The lawyer (worked to resolve / mediated / tried to settle / added to) the disagreement between the company and its employees.

About the Topic

Papua is a province in Indonesia. It is home to many different tribes. A tribe is a group of people consisting of families that share the same customs and language. In recent years, Papua's population has grown. This increase is partly due to migration, in which people from other parts of the country have come to live in Papua.

Before You Listen

Read these questions. Discuss your answers in a small group.

1. What are some unique aspects of your culture?
2. What cultural customs outside of your own culture do you find interesting?
3. How important is it for a culture to preserve its customs and traditions?

Listen

Read the Listen for Main Ideas activity below.
Go online to listen to a discussion between two research journalists and their project manager.
They have just returned from Papua in Indonesia.

Listen for Main Ideas

Mark each sentence as T (true) or F (false). Work with a partner. Restate false sentences to make them correct.

- T 1. The findings from Papua are going to be included in a seminar.
- 2. The tribe builds large houses at the bottom of trees.
- 3. One reason to build the tree houses is for protection against mosquitos.
- 4. The tribe's population is increasing.
- 5. The tribe's language is colorful and descriptive.

PRESENTATION SKILL

Deductive and Inductive Reasoning

LEARN

Deductive reasoning means that you start with a general hypothesis or statement. Next, you test to see if the statement is true by making observations, collecting information, and analyzing data.

Sample hypothesis: The tribe's main source of calories is sago.

Sample observation: In a study of food consumed by 138 families across three towns, we found that the greatest source of calories per week was sago.

Inductive reasoning means that you start with a specific observation. Then using the observation, you try to form a general statement.

Sample specific observation: Sago is the main source of calories for one family in the tribe.

Sample generalization: It is likely that sago is the main source of calories for the entire tribe.

Scientifically, deductive reasoning is considered a more reliable method for proving something. However, inductive reasoning can help you to develop a general statement that can be tested by using deductive methods, so it is also a useful form of reasoning.

APPLY

- A. Go online and listen to the discussion again. Complete the thoughts in the notes section in the chart below.

Student notes	(D / I)
Anders, disc. why Korowai build tree houses: another tribe built homes in trees 4 protection; so thought they built tree houses 4 protection, too	I
Tian, disc. Korowai tribe's popltn: • some sci's hypothesized → that tribe's popltn _____ • evidence → intrv'd tribal elders ab. parents, brothers, sisters, family • made popltn _____ • studied current popltn • popltn _____ slightly from 20 yrs ago
Tian, disc. Korowai migration: • met a couple men = moved 2 town 2 work • _____ → the decline

- B. What type of reasoning do the notes in each row of the chart above demonstrate? In the right-hand column, mark each row of notes as either D (deductive reasoning) or I (inductive reasoning).

- C. Discuss with a partner: How would you use deductive reasoning to form a conclusion about the following statement?

A university degree is more valuable than a high school degree.

- D. Discuss with a partner: How would you use inductive reasoning to form a conclusion about the statement in activity C?

- E. Which type of reasoning is more persuasive: deductive or inductive? Explain your answer to your partner and listen as your partner also explains his / her answer.

LEARN

English speakers stress some words to bring attention to them in a sentence. You can do this when you speak to highlight differences and correct misunderstandings. This type of sentence focus is called contrastive stress.

- A. Go online to listen to a conversation. Notice how the speakers shift the stress to draw attention to contrasting elements.

Conversation	Stress	Sentence focus and meaning
A: A good diet includes a variety of vegetables, whole grains, and lean protein.	normal	highlights new information
B: But a healthy diet doesn't include any fat , right?	special	contrasts parallel elements
A: Actually, eating fat from PLANTS is part of a healthy diet.	EXTRA	corrects inaccurate information

APPLY

- A. Go online to listen. Speaker A uses contrastive stress to highlight very specific information. Circle the word that sounds slower, higher, and more meaningful than the other words in each sentence.

1. Good nutrition includes a variety of vitamin-rich foods.
2. Good nutrition includes a variety of vitamin-rich foods.
3. Good nutrition includes a variety of vitamin-rich foods.
4. Good nutrition includes a variety of vitamin-rich foods.
5. Good nutrition includes a variety of vitamin-rich foods.

- B. Listen to the conversation. Number the sentences below to show the correct sequence. Notice the contrastive stress used to correct information.

- ___ A: In certain cultures it's considered impolite to refuse any food.
- ___ B: Oh, I see. In some cultures, it's polite to accept the food and OK to not finish it.
- ___ B: Are you saying, in some cultures, you are supposed to eat everything on your plate?
- ___ A: You got it.
- ___ A: Actually, you don't have to eat it. But it's polite to say yes to all offers of food.
- ___ A: No, leaving food on your plate is fine.
- ___ B: So, it's impolite to leave food on your plate?

C. Go online to listen to the conversation from activity B again. Repeat what you hear. Match the speed, stress, and intonation. Then practice with a partner.

D. Work in a group of three. Partner 1: Read a statement from the left column of the chart below. Use normal sentence focus. Partners 2 and 3: Choose a response and give extra stress to contrasting elements. Partner 1: Listen to your partners' responses. Repeat your statement. Use exaggerated stress to make your meaning clear.

P1: I booked an expensive cruise to Bali. P2: A cheap cruise? P1: I booked an EXPENSIVE cruise to Bali. P3: To Mali?

Sample statements	Sample responses
1. Michael booked an expensive cruise to Bali.	Michelle did? / He canceled one? / A cheap cruise? / He booked a flight ? / To Mali ?
2. He came in on the first flight from New York.	She did? / He left ? / On the last flight? / On the first train ? / To New York? / From Las Vegas ?
3. Pete will be singing at a café this Friday night.	Paul will? / He might be? / He'll be waiting tables ? / On a street corner? / Next Friday night? / Saturday night? / Friday afternoon?
4. I caught the 8:30 morning bus to San Francisco.	Your friend did? / You missed it? / The 9:30 ? / The 8: 45 ? / The evening bus? / The morning train ? From San Francisco? / To Las Vegas ?

End of Unit Task

In this unit, you learned about synthesizing key information and concepts. Additionally, you learned about identifying and using inductive and deductive reasoning. Apply these skills as you complete the following activities.

A. Think of a cultural group that you are interested in or know about. Working with a partner, record two customs or cultural practices of this group.

- _____
- _____

B. Try to determine the meaning or reason behind the customs and cultural practices that you noted in activity A? Use deductive and inductive reasoning.

Deductive reasoning	Inductive reasoning
1. _____	1. _____
